阅读下列四篇短文, 从每小题后所给的 A、B、C、D 四个选项中, 选出最佳选项。

A

Don't talk to me. I'm busy with my iPhone.

Riding a London subway, a person from China will notice one major difference: in London, people do not look at each other. In fact, eye contact is avoided at all times. That's not rudeness—people are just too busy to bother looking.

Busy doing what, you ask? Well, they're certainly not using the time for a moment of quiet reflection(沉思). Nor are they reading a book. New technology has replaced quiet habits. Today the only acceptable form of book on the London Underground is an e-book.

Apple must earn a fortune from London commuters(乘车上下班的人). Since the launch of the iPhone in 2007, over 40 000—"apps" (programs downloaded for the iPhone) have been designed.

Commuters love them because they are the perfect time-filler. One "app", called iShoot, is a game that features tanks. Another one, Tube Exits, tells passengers where to sit on the train to be closest to the exit of their destination(目的地). iSteam clouds the iPhone screen when you breathe into the microphone. You can then write in the "steam" on your phone screen.

For those without an iPhone, another Apple product, the iPod, may be the distraction(消遣) of choice. It's not just teenagers who "plug in" to their music—iPods are a popular way to pass the time for all ages.

And if games e-books and music aren't enough to keep you occupied. Then perhaps you would prefer a film? The development of palm DVD technology means many commuters watch their favorite TV show or film on the way to work. With all this distraction, it's amazing that people still remember to get off the train.

Sports can help you keep fit and get in touch with nature. However,whether you are on the mountains, in the waves, or on the grassland, you should be aware that your sport of choice might have great influence on the environment.

Some sports are resource-hungry. Golf, as you may know, eats up not only large areas of countryside, but also tons of water. Besides, all sorts of chemicals and huge amounts of energy are used to keep its courses(球场)in good condition. This causes major environmental effects. For example, in the dry regions of Portugal and Spain, golf is often held responsible for serious water shortage in some local areas.

There are many environment—friendly sports. Power walking is one of them that you could take up today. You don't need any special equipment except a good pair of shoes; and you don't have to worry about resources and your purse. Simple and free, power walking can also keep you fit. If you walk regularly, it will be good for your heart and bones. Experts say that 20 minutes of power walking daily can make you feel less anxious, sleep well and have better weight control.

Whatever sport you take up, you can make it greener by using environment-friendly equipment and buying products made from reused materials. But the final goal should be "green gyms". They are better replacements for traditional health clubs and modern sports centers. Members of green gyms play sports outdoors, in the countryside or other open spaces. There is no special requirement for you to start your membership. And best of all, it's free.

C

Recently, a professor of philosophy in the United States has written a book called Money and the Meaning of Life. He has discovered that how we deal with money in our day-to-day life has more meaning than we usually think. One of the exercises he asked his students to do is to keep record of every penny they spend for a week. From the way they spend their money, they can see what they really value in life.

He says our relation with others often becomes clearly defined when money enters the picture. You might have wonderful friendship with somebody and you think that you are a very good friend. But you will know him only when you ask him to lend you some money. If he does, it brings something to the relationship that seems stronger than ever before. Or it can suddenly weaken the relationship if he doesn't. This person may say that he has a certain feeling, but if it is not carried out in the money world, there is something less real about it.

Since money is so important to us, we consider those who possess a lot of it to be very important. The author interviewed some millionaires in researching his book.

Question: What is the most surprising thing you have discovered about being rich because you are a self-made man?

Answer: The most surprising thing is how people give me so much respect. I am nothing. I do not know much. All I am is rich.

People just have an idea of making more and more money, but what is it for? How much do I need for any given purposes in my life? In his book, the professor uncovered an important need in modern society: to bring back the idea that money is an instrument rather than the end. Money plays an important role in the material world, but expecting money to bring happiness may be missing the meaning of life.

54. The author seems to believe that asking your friend to lend you some money _____.

- A. is a good way to test your friendship
 B. will do harm to your friendship
 C. will strengthen your friendship
 D. is a good way to break off your friendship

55. What can we learn about the millionaire from his answer in the interview?

- A. He does not feel that he is well educated.
 B. He does not think that he is a very important person.
 C. He doesn't think that being rich is worth so much attention.
 D. He does not consider himself to be very successful.

56. What does the American professor of philosophy want to explain in his book?

- A. Money is an end. B. Money is a means.
 C. Money is everything D. Money is unimportant.

57. What does the answer mean by " All I am is rich. " ?

- A. I am a rich person.

- B. I only have money.
 C. I have all money.
 D. I've got a large sum of money.

第二节 (共5小题, 每小题2分, 满分10分)

根据短文内容, 从下框的 A-F 选项出能概况每一段主题的最佳选项。选项中有一项为多余项

- A. Avoid asking your child too many questions
 B. Tell your child stories about your growing up
 C. Don't judge or criticize your child
 D. Listen to your kids with respect
 E. Provide pressure-free conversation opportunities
 F. Ask children gently what they think

If your child has gone from a continuous chatterbox to making conversations that consist mostly of yes and no, it's time to consider these tips on how to talk to kids, so you'll know what's going on in your child's world.

61.

The quickest way to get kids to shut up and, as a result, shut you out of their lives is to continuously press them about things. A more effective way is to sit back and patiently wait for them to open up in a low-stress family and then be prepared to listen.

62.

Parents can sometimes make kids at a young age decide it is best not to talk about something when they are criticized. If you really want to know what's on your child's mind, then avoid passing judgment and focus instead on why something seems important to your child.

63.

If you want to raise a creative and independent thinker, stop telling your child what he ought to feel or think. You can gently encourage additional conversations by simply asking why he feels the way he does or what he would do in a certain situation.

64.

You may think you're just asking questions out of curiosity when communicating with your child, but an endless stream of questions about what they did, whether everyone got along, if they went to the bathroom, etc., are enough to make anyone shut up! Practice patience and let your kids open up on their terms.

65.

Kids can relate to you and other adults when you tell your stories happening when you were their age. Talking to kids by telling them about things like something embarrassing that happened or the first crush (迷恋) you had helps them to connect with you and understand that you might actually know what they are going through!

Wang Peng enjoys being clever and wishes to do a great job. However, he is firmly fasten to his original position by the nature of laziness and certainly achieves everything.

In fact, you can see many such example in life. Just as the old saying goes, diligence leads to success while laziness results from failure. Every task require hard work, from learning English to build a house. Some of my classmates are definitely clever, and they had a strong desire to go to a famous university, but unfortunate, they are wasting the time talking or playing. And as a result, they end in failure.

Therefore, in my opinion, diligence plays a very important role in life. Only by working hard and practising a lot are we able overcome difficulties and achieve our goals. No one can succeed just by thinking without any actions.

Wang Peng enjoys being clever and wishes to do a great job. However, he is firmly fasten(fastened) to his original position by the nature of laziness and certainly achieves everyt hing.(nothing)

In fact, you can see many such example(examples) in life. Just as the old saying goes, diligence leads to success while laziness results from(in) failure. Every task require(requires) hard work, from learning English to build (building) a house. Some of my classmates are definitely clever, and they had(have) a strong desire to go to a famous university, but unfortunate (unfortunately), they are wasting the(/) time talking or playing. And as a result, they end in failure.

Therefore, in my opinion, diligence plays a very important role in life. Only by working hard and practising a lot are we able ^ (to) overcome difficulties and achieve our goals. No one can succeed just by thinking without any actions.
